PARENT'S VIEW

Education is a powerful tool that shapes your future. To create a positive learning environment, designate a quiet, organized space for studying to reduce stress and enhance focus. Foster curiosity in subjects like physics and chemistry, and set realistic academic goals by breaking larger tasks into smaller, manageable steps to build confidence. Consistency is key; follow a daily schedule for both studies and sports. Incorporate experiments and practical applications into your learning, and improve your reading skills by engaging with newspapers to enhance your vocabulary. Celebrate all achievements, no matter how small, and remember the support from teachers and friends. Lastly, create a relaxing atmosphere with music or dance to unwind. As the saying goes, "the roots of education are bitter, but the fruit is sweet."

A BAD WORKMAN ALWAYS BLAMES HIS TOOLS

Once upon a time in a beautiful city, there was a house where Leena lived with her family. One day, the pipe above the kitchen entrance started leaking. Leena's mother called a plumber to fix it. However, the plumber didn't actually know how to repair the pipe, but he pretended to be skilled in front of Leena's mother. As time passed, the leak grew worse instead of getting better. Leena's mother, noticing this, asked the plumber if he really knew how to fix it. The plumber quickly blamed his broken wrench, saying it had been damaged while working in the last house, which was why the leak had worsened. But Leena's mother thought to herself, "A bad worker always blames his tools."

A BAD WORKMAN ALWAYS BLAMES HIS TOOLS

In a busy school, Jake always blamed his old basketball shoes for his poor performance. One day, Coach Thompson visited and played skillfully with the same worn-out shoes the students used. Jake was amazed and asked how he did it. Coach Thompson replied, "It's not the shoes but dedication and practice that make a great player" Inspired, Jake stopped blaming his shoes and started practicing harder. His skills improved, and he became one of the best players in the team. He learned that true success comes from hard work, not just good equipment.
